American Foreign Policy
Winter 2014

Instructor: Professor Tomohito Shinoda
Office RI 304, (x478, tshinoda@iuj.ac.jp)

About this course: This class seeks to provide students with a thorough understanding of American foreign relations. It will first cover the basic history of American diplomacy from the independence war to WWII, and the Cold-War period. Then, it will turn the decision making process of the current US foreign policy.

Organization: This course is lecture-based class, but the instructor encourages students to participate discussion in order to find out more details of the contents.

Course Grade: The course grade will be based on mid-term and final exam (60%), one oral report to the seminar on an journal article of choice (20%), and class attendance and participation in classroom discussions (20%) will account for the remainder of the course grade. In order to pass the class, you need to get at least 50 out of 100 points.

Policies: The students are expected to read all the reading materials and attend all the classes. One week absence would result in the deduction of 4 points. The adjustment can be made for the following two cases: sickness and family emergency. If you miss 40 percent of class without reasonable causes, you fail to pass.

Main Textbooks: The main textbook is Daniel S. Papp, Loch K. Johnson and John E. Endicott, American Foreign Policy: History, Politics and Policy, Pearson, 2005. In addition, the main readings are Henry Kissinger, Diplomacy, Touchstone Books, 1994; and James Nathan and James K.
